REVOCATION OF LICENSE.

Section 3. The Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board shall have power to revoke, cancel or recall any license when said board shall find that such license does not truly and correctly represent the horse or jack for which said license was originally issued, and when a license is revoked by the said board, it shall be the duty of the sheriff or a constable of a county where such license is located to take possession of said license and deliver the same to the said Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board when called upon by said Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board to take possession of the said license.

KINDS OF LICENSE

Section 4. The Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board shall issue four kinds of licenses, as follows: Purebred, for stallions or jacks correctly recorded in stud books, recognized by the Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board; crossbred, for stallions or jacks whose sire and dam are of different breeds, but each correctly recorded in a stud book maintained for that particular breed, providing said stud books are recognized by the Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board; grade, for stallions whose sire or dam is recorded in a stud book that is recognized by the Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board; scrub, for stallion or jack whose sire and dam are neither recorded in a stud book recognized by the State Livestock Registry Board.

REGISTRY RULES AND REGULATIONS

The law as passed is very liberal in its provisions, leaving the matter of registration and license entirely to the option of the owners, but making provision for the legal and easy collection of service fees for those availing themselves of the privilege of registration and license.

It also provides that no stallion or jack may be advertised, either directly or indirectly, as sound until such animal has been examined by a representative of the Registry Board and a certificate of soundness issued. It is not necessary, however, to have a certificate of soundness in order to secure a license or to stand for public service.

No stallion or jack will be given a certificate of soundness if any of the following physical defects or diseases are present:

Moon blindness (periodic ophthalmia), Cataract, Rearing or Whistling, Heaves or Broken Wind, St. Vitus Dance, String Halt, Bone Spavin, Ring Bone, Side Bone, Navicular Disease, Thoroughpin, Box Spavin, Curb with Curby Formation of Hocks, Glanders, Farcy, Urethral Gleet, Mange, and retention of one or both testicles (cryptorchid).

Certificates of soundness that may have been issued will be revoked whenever any of the above diseases or defects are detected at later examinations.

The registration and license fee is $2.00 for each animal registered. A renewal of the license, if applied for before March 1 of the following year, may be secured for $1.00.

Stallion owners wishing to have a certificate of soundness for their horses, should make application for the same to the Board, and whenever possible such examination will be made, the maximum fee for which will not exceed $2.00 for any one horse.

Blank forms of application for stallion and jack license must be filled, giving necessary information before license can be issued. These blanks can be secured from the Livestock Registry Board, Stillwater, or from the county clerk of each county upon request.

A purebred license can be issued only when the stallion or jack has been recorded in the stud book of one of the associations listed below as being recognized by the Registry Board. The application for a purebred license must be accompanied in every case by either the certificate of registration, commonly called the pedigree, or a certified copy of the same, before a license can be issued.

A grade license can be issued to a stallion that is not purely bred and registered only when the name and pedigree number of the sire or the dam is given on the application blank. The sire's pedigree must be recorded in a recognized association stud book.

Two forms of license are issued for jacks; one for purebred or registered, and the other for scrub or non-registered jacks.

Under the provisions of the law certain registry companies that make a practice of issuing certificates of registry or pedigrees for grade horses shall not be recognized by the Board in the issuance of purebred licenses or certificates.

REGISTRATION WORK DURING 1919

The fourth annual report of the Oklahoma State Livestock Registry Board is herewith submitted to the public. It includes a financial statement for the year 1919, a list of all licenses issued by counties, a separate list showing the purebred stallions by breeds, several good articles concerning horse-breeding, and other valuable information concerning the horse and mule work in the State.

During the year 1919 there were 2,223 licenses issued to stallions and jacks, as compared with 2,594 in 1918. The decrease in the number of licenses issued is no doubt due to the fact that the law is not compulsory, except that it gives the stallion and jack owner a lien on the mare and offspring. The increase or decrease, therefore, shows that a larger or less percent of owners are securing licenses.

There is a noticeable decrease in the number of grade and scrub stallions which are being licensed, indicating that the law is having a desirable effect, and further showing that the mare owner is discriminating against the grade and scrub horse.

This is also true of the jacks, there being an increase in the number of purebred jack licenses and a decrease in the number of scrub jack licenses. There were thirty-five less scrub jacks licensed in 1919 than in 1918.

There is a noticeable decrease in the number of fake pedigrees that are coming into the Registry Board office, showing that the stallion and jack owners are becoming better posted on what are desirable registry certificates ; which are good and which are fake.

MARKED DIFFERENCES IN COUNTIES

In listing the stallions and jacks by counties according to the licenses which have been issued to the different counties, it is surprising to note that there are seven counties which have no purebred stallions, and many counties that have only one, two or three. In practically all these counties there are a number of grades and scrubs. If the horse and jack men in those counties would look into this matter they would find a splendid opportunity to do some missionary work with some good purebred sires.

OKLAHOMA DRAFT HORSE BREEDERS' ASSOCIATION

During the year 1919 the Oklahoma Draft Horse Breeders Association perfected a permanent organization during the Farm Congress at Stillwater, with the following officers: F. A. Heberling, Ponca City, president; A. J. Henthorn, Oklahoma City, vice president; W. L. Blizzard, Stillwater, secretary-treasurer.

The following directors were elected: J. H. Jackson, Enid; F. M. Garner, Pawnee; L. A. Hampton, Dale; A. D. Outhier, Homestead; C. M. Haxton, Gotebo; C. E. Price, Keota; Frank Franklin, Vinita; A. J. Harter, Dacoma.

The association voted to hold another annual meeting this year during the Farm Congress, which will be held at Stillwater during the latter part of August. It is the hope of the association that we may be able to secure a large delegation of horse and jack men as some important business will be transacted at this meeting.

The association is planning some big things for next year, and during the year it is planned to hold a sale.

The Livestock Registry Law needs some changes, and these changes will be presented to the association for approval at the time of the meeting. At the present time the fact that the law is not compulsory is causing considerable dissatisfaction among horsemen of the State. Also, with the present registry fee it is practically impossible to carry on the work of the Board successfully. It is suggested that the following changes be made in the law:

1. All horses and jacks which are to be placed in service must be licensed.
2. The license fee should be raised to a point which would give the Registry Board sufficient funds to enforce the law.
3. All funds received from the licensing of horses and jacks should be used to promote the horse and jack business.

JACK STOCK AND MULES THE BREEDER'S BEST BET TODAY

What is a good jack worth today? The value of an animal is dependent upon the value of his produce and the service he is capable of rendering. This fact is remarkably demonstrated these days in the final product of jack stock, his majesty, the mule. In the recent great war, and during the past few years, under normal conditions, the mule has proved conclusively his right to fame for something more than the ability to sing and kick. The day when the mule is mentioned in derision and as a joke (usually with reference to his ears, voice and methods of resenting personal insult or other injustice) has come to an end with up-to-date wits. In other words, we have learned to appreciate the value of the mule as a beast of burden; his superiority as such in many ways, a few of which, to-wit: Great strength in proportion to his size and weight; wonderful endurance; sure-footedness; the small amount of food he requires; greater number of years of usefulness. These facts, combined with the shortage of horse and mulepower throughout the world, have brought the mule into his own.

At the recent annual meeting of the stockholders of the Standard Jack and Jennet Registry of America, at Kansas City, Missouri, the reports of officers and members of that association from all parts of the United States disclosed that the average price being paid for mule colts at weaning time is, and has been for some time, around $150.00, some selling as high as $175.00 per head at that age. Mature mules are bringing from $550.00 to $900.00 per span, and even more, in some instances. And it is a significant fact that the supply is not nearly sufficient to meet the demand.

In view of these facts, what is the value of the sire of produce which sells at such prices at such a young age? What is your good jack really worth, Mr. Jack Breeder? Do you realize his full value to yourself and to your community in dollars and cents? The prices that have prevailed during the past two years indicate that you do not appreciate the full value of that good jack or jennet and the possibilities of the business. Better add a cipher in the dollar column at the end of the figure which you have had in mind as representing the money value of your good jack. Then make fertilizer of your inferior jack stock and complete your herd by adding good ones to it.

There was never a better future for jack stock, and a better time to get into the jack-breeding and mule producing business, than now. The outlook for ready markets and high prices was never better, and they are undoubtedly the breeder's best bet today.

My advice to you, Mr. Jack Breeder, is: Keep your good jack stock and buy more; breed your good mares to jacks, and advise your patrons to do the same; get into the business strong and right, in dead earnest; have all of your good jack stock registered at all times, it will save you money if you do, and lose money if you do not; become a member of and cooperate with the Standard Jack and Jennet Registry of America in its endeavors to improve the breed and advance the interests of the breeders. Be a live wire in the jack and mule business. It is a safe bet.

HORSES AND MULES AT CENTRAL MARKETS

BY B. C. BIGGERSTAFF

Daily Drovers Telegram, Kansas City, Missouri

More things are working together at this time to affect the status of horses and mules at central markets than at any time in the history of the production of these animals. These transitions affect Oklahoma, and its horse and mule supply, and the other Western and Southwestern States, more than any section of the country.

High-priced lands in the corn-belt section are the principal causes of the changes that are being worked out. For years Oklahoma has been a source of the cattle supply on which the corn-belt draws for its meat animals. Its production of stocker and feeder cattle came as the result of economic conditions that demanded the breeding and grazing of cattle on lands that were cheap when compared with the farm lands in the corn-belt, where these cattle are fitted and finished. The same general economic conditions gave rise to the breeding of the enormous amount of stock hogs that go from Oklahoma annually to central stockyards and on into the feedyards of the corn-belt. Oklahoma, along with other Southwestern and Western States where there is plenty of pasture lands, and lands that are comparatively cheap when considered along with the lands of the so-called corn-belt States, must, in the future, supply the stock horses that will be used on the high-priced lands of the corn-belt in turning out the big crops of corn and other items requiring intense cultivation in a rather short summer season, and the crops that will go into the cattle and hogs that originally came from such States of the Southwest and West as Oklahoma.

Another factor that is affecting the price of horses and mules at central markets is the continued breeding of mules. Mules are being produced in extremely large quantities on the farms of the country because of the price they are commanding. This demand for mules, and the consequent prices being paid therefor, has grown out of a condition in the South where more and heavier farm machinery is being used.

Never since the Civil War have the Southeastern States been so prosperous as at this time. In fact, the entire South has come into its own again, because of capital that has moved that way in return for the essential products of the South and the Southeast. With this capital available, the farmers of the Southeastern States are buying bigger and better mules for their farm work. The bigger and better mules are required because of the heavier work that is imposed by heavier farm machinery.

Then, too, the Southwest is using a great many large horses and mules in the oil fields; in fact, the demand for big horses and mules for oil field service is one of the most outstanding features of the horses and mule business at this time, and Oklahoma is one of the chief factors in the use of such horses and mules.

With mules in demand, and commanding big prices at central markets, and consequent higher prices at the places where they are put to work, there has come the demand for mules that has caused a great revival in their breeding, and a consequent reduction in the supply of horses. There is but one way to secure mules, and that is to breed mares to jacks, and it would not take very long, by the continued and exclusive breeding of mares to jacks, to breed both horses and mules out of existence. In emphasizing the mule features of the farm horsepower situation at this time, the writer does so because of the effect the mule situation is having on the conditions that are affecting the horse in Oklahoma and in every other State where horses can be produced at the minimum of cost.

To one who has followed the horse and mule business, either by direct participation therein or by observation, covering a period of a quarter of a century, the change in the type of mules now coming to the Kansas City and other central markets is remarkable. The change in type is due to the change in the type of mares that produce the best mules, and more and better mules are coming to market than ever before. It has been the grade draft mare that has brought about the change in type of mules. In the blood of virtually every good mule that comes to market these days from Oklahoma and elsewhere there flows the blood of some good Percheron stallion; in fact, the blood of many great Percheron or other draft stallions.

In addition to breeding size, bone and an exceptionally good body onto the mules of the present day, these grade draft mares have given to mules a docility and intelligence that the old type of "ratty" mules did not possess. With better quality, better bone, more intelligence and docility, these mules, that are easily broken and which are willing workers, command a higher price than was ever paid on the open market for mules.

But Oklahoma and the other great horse and mule producing States, and which, for economic and financial reasons, are to become even greater horse producing States, must come to a realization of what must be done to preserve the horse supply. The grade and scrub stallions must go. Unsound stallions of any breed must be discarded. The very best mares must be used, and there must come a slackening in the haste to breed more mules. In other words, the supply of brood mares must be built up through the breeding of more mares to stallions and fewer mares to jacks. It is a short-sighted policy that would undermine the source of both horses and mules by continued breeding of a hybrid, even if that animal does command a high price, and mules are selling every day of the week on the Kansas City market for higher prices than were ever recorded in the older days of the industry.

There is no doubt but that the horse is coming back to his own. Motor trucks are only able to take care of the surplus of expansion in business in the cities, and more horses are being used by actual count, for transfer and hauling work in the cities than ever before. True, there are more motor trucks being used, too, but there is more business now than ever before. Eighty percent of all hauling can be done cheaper with horses than with motor trucks. It is not a matter of sentiment, but one of business, this matter of breeding and using horses. There is no reason why Oklahoma can not in the next five years come to the front as a horse and mule State, with as rapid strides as it went to the front as a hog and cattle State. The financial reward is awaiting those who will play the game, and who will breed as good horses as the trade demands, and that is the best.

Market conditions were never better. Good, sound, fat horses and mules are breaking all price records at the Kansas City market, but the demand is for the heavy draft type, both in horses and mules.

The market situation, as affects horses and mules, is the outcome of the violent changes through which the country has passed in the last five years, and these changes have put the horse and mule on the soundest basis they have ever occupied in this country, and this basis is represented most brilliantly in the prices that are being paid for horses and mules at the central markets, the clearing-house of the commercial side of horse and mule production.

CARE OF THE FOOT

BY DR. L. L. LEWIS

The foot of the horse appears to the casual observer to be an organ that is constructed so as to successfully resist almost any amount of abuse and neglect. While the foot is a wonderfully constructed organ, it is very susceptible to injury, suffers from neglect as any other part of the body, and requires very careful attention at all times to enable it to serve its purpose in the animal's economy. "A poor foot makes the horse useless", is an old and true saying of the horseman.

Under modern conditions the horse is having the same difficulties in adapting himself to his surroundings that other animal forms have. He has to contend with paved streets, cement or wooden floors to his stalls, hard-surfaced roads, etc., all of which cause certain forms of foot trouble. The horseman has to meet these conditions with skillful care in order to keep his animal in condition to give efficient service.

Shoeing is made necessary in order to keep the horse serviceable under varying conditions. It is, in fact, a sort of necessary evil because it gives an artificial base for support, and either prevents or restrains the normal movements of the parts of the foot. It does not require a very close examination of the feet and legs of the horse to discover that there are many defects that will interfere to a certain extent with the usefulness of the animal. Some of these defects are acquired and some are inherited. Breeding stock should be as free as possible from defects in conformation, as these are to a very large degree transmissible from parent to offspring.

Lameness may be due to an injury or to a diseased process in any structure of the foot or leg. It is very easy to know that the horse is lame, but difficult sometimes to locate the injured part. A lame horse always goes light over the sore foot or leg and drops the weight on the well foot, giving the head a distinct nod and the hip a drop when trotting or walking.

Corns are the result of a bruise of a sensitive tissue lying directly above that part of the sole between the base of the foot and the wall. This injury occurs most frequently on the inside of the forefoot. In many cases the bruise suppurates and becomes very painful. The sole should be pared away in the region of the bar, and if pus is present an opening should be made so as to give free drainage to the bottom of the foot. Pack the opening with absorbent cotton soaked with iodine and dress daily for a few days. The use of a three-quarter shoe will relieve the pressure on the injured quarter and help to relieve the lameness.

Founder or Laminitis.—This is due to a congestion of blood in the sensitive wall just below the hoof. Many have designated this condition as water founder because it may be seen occasionally soon after watering a hot, tired horse. Founder is occasionally seen in horses subject to heavy feeding, and with no exercise, but the most common causes leading to this condition are over-feeding when the stock have been worked very hard, allowing hot, thirsty horses to drink large quantities of cold water, or sometimes driving horses excessively on hard roads. The wall is practically an inelastic band around the foot and permits very little swelling. On this account founder is one of the most painful conditions of the foot that is seen in the horse. When standing, the hind feet are placed well forward to relieve the forefoot as much as possible. The application of cold water will give great relief in the first stages of feet inflammation. The horse may be made to stand in cold water at the beginning of the trouble. During the later stages of the trouble, hot applications will give relief. Founder usually leaves the hoof in such a condition as to always show the effect of the inflammation. In such cases the hoof is usually much harder and drier, rings appear, particularly near the top, and the wall becomes dished. Such a foot should be kept well shod.

Thrush.—This disease is usually the result of neglect. By allowing the horse to stand in filth, the frog becomes softened until there is an excess of secretion in the cleft. A foul, disagreeable odor is noticed in these cases. If this condition is long continued it may result in some separation of the horny layer from the sensitive portions of the sole. The first thing to do is to provide clean stalls for such cases. All loose or diseased portions of the frog should be pared away. After opening up the cleft and thoroughly washing the part, apply iodine freely and dust plenty of calomel, burnt alum or copper sulphate into the cleft of the frog.

The bony structures of the foot are often the cause of a great deal of trouble. Such conditions as ringbone, sidebone and navicular disease are always serious and often prevent horses from being of service for draft or driving purposes. Sometimes these conditions may be so treated as to either stop the progress of the trouble or to remedy it sufficiently to make the animal serviceable. Too much attention can not be paid to the selection of breeding stock free from defects of this character. Bony diseases of the foot, such as sidebone, navicular disease, ringbone, etc., are serious defects, resulting in many cases in serious lameness that may be temporary or, in some cases, permanent. Two factors may enter into these troubles, one a poor quality of bone, the other a faulty conformation. Both conditions may be hereditary, hence the necessity for avoiding these defects in breeding stock, particularly in the stallion.

Many of the foot troubles seen in horses may be prevented to a certain extent by giving the necessary attention to the young stock. Horn grows constantly, and if it does not receive sufficient wear it will change the form of the foot, and may even cause permanent distortion of the bones of the foot. Long toes, high heels, uneven wear of the sidewall all lead to an altered position of the foot with reference to the axis of the leg. The colt's foot should be carefully leveled at frequent intervals. Particular attention should be given the heels. High heels tend to break the foot axis forward. They also tend to contract and press on the frog because the frog does not form a part of the wearing surface. The habit of paring closely the frog and of opening up the clefts is likely to aid in producing contracted heels. The foot axis should be the guide in leveling the foot for shoeing. The wall at the toe should have the same slant as the long pastern bone. The long toe will bend this axis back, the high heel will bend it forward. If the shoeing is to be changed from flat shoes to those with calks, the foot should be pared accordingly. Usually it is better to not shoe young horses until they are put to such work as to make this necessary. The light work often required of colts does not necessitate shoeing, neither does the field work of farm horses.
